STATEMENT

This bill, the “COVID-19 Financial Security for Consumers Act,” concerns financial security relating to the coronavirus disease 2019 pandemic, and certain future financial security caused by medical debt and future declared emergencies.

Consumer reporting agencies, creditors, and debt collectors

Sections 1 through 3 of the bill require consumer reporting agencies, creditors, and debt collectors to provide certain protections to people who have experienced financial hardship as a result of the coronavirus disease 2019 pandemic.

As used in the bill, “covered coronavirus period” means the period beginning with the Public Health Emergency and State of Emergency declared by the Governor in Executive Order 103 of 2020 and extending 120 days following the end of that public health emergency and state of emergency.

The bill provides that an affected person may contact any consumer reporting agency and inform the agency that the person has experienced financial hardship as a result of the coronavirus disease 2019 pandemic.

Any consumer reporting agency that receives such a request from an affected person is required to respond to the affected person and the Director of the Division of Consumer Affairs in the Department of Law and Public Safety within five days of receiving the request. The bill requires the agency to place an alert in the file of that consumer indicating the consumer has been impacted by the coronavirus disease 2019 pandemic, and to provide that alert in any consumer report or credit score provided by the agency.

The bill provides that no user of a consumer report may consider any adverse information that is a result of the coronavirus disease 2019 pandemic in a consumer report pertaining to an affected person who provides the user with notice pursuant to the bill, or who has an alert included in the person’s consumer report.

The bill provides that an affected person may contact any user of a consumer report and request that the user disregard any adverse information related to the person in a consumer report with respect to the covered coronavirus period.

The bill requires a user of a consumer report that receives a request from an affected person to respond to the affected person and the Director of the Division of Consumer Affairs in the Department of Law and Public Safety within five days of receiving the request.

The bill provides that no charge may be imposed by a consumer reporting agency with respect to a request made by a consumer.

The bill provides that no person may create, implement, or revise a credit scoring model that would treat as a negative factor or value any adverse information reported during the covered coronavirus period if the consumer's file or report includes an alert pursuant to the bill.

With respect to the covered coronavirus period, the bill provides that no creditor or debt collector may:

- (1) initiate, file, or threaten to file any new collection lawsuit;
- (2) initiate, threaten to initiate, or act upon any legal or equitable remedy for the garnishment, seizure, attachment, or withholding of wages, earnings, property or funds for the payment of a debt to a creditor;
- (3) initiate, threaten to initiate, or act upon any legal or equitable remedy for the repossession of any vehicle;
- (4) visit or threaten to visit the household of a debtor at any time;

- (6) confront or communicate in person with a debtor regarding the collection of a debt in any public place at any time; or
- (7) report any portion of a debt which is alleged to be unpaid, to any debt collector.

The bill provides that, with respect to the covered coronavirus period, no debt collector may initiate a communication with any debtor via telephone, either in person or by recorded audio message to the debtor's residence, cellular telephone, or other telephone number provided by the debtor, except that a debt collector shall not be deemed to have initiated a communication with a debtor if the communication by the debt collector is in response to a request made by the debtor for the communication.

In the case of an action or proceeding that would otherwise be barred from being brought by the expiration of the statute of limitations, the bill does not prevent a creditor or debt collector from commencing an action or proceeding in a court of competent jurisdiction against a debtor, provided that the creditor or debt collector includes in any process served on a debtor prominent language putting the debtor on notice that the creditor or debt collector may not attempt to collect on any portion of a debt which is alleged to be unpaid or report any portion of a debt which is alleged to be unpaid, to any collection or credit reporting agency, bureau, or data collection facility, until the conclusion of the covered coronavirus period.

The bill provides that a debtor or the Attorney General may bring an action alleging a creditor or debt collector has violated the provisions of the bill.

Medical creditors and medical debt collectors

Section 4 of the bill prohibits, until 180 days after the first bill for a medical debt has been sent, medical creditors and medical debt collectors from taking any legal action against an individual, including but not limited to, placing a lien on an individual's property; attaching or seizing an individual's bank account or any other personal property; commencing a civil action against an individual; or garnishing an individual's wages.

At least 30 days before taking legal action against an individual, a medical creditor or medical debt collector is required to provide to the individual written information on:

- (1) any financial assistance that is available for eligible individuals;
- (2) any legal actions that may be initiated in order to obtain payment; and
- (3) a deadline after which those legal actions may be initiated, which date shall be no earlier than 30 days after the date of the notice.

The bill prohibits medical creditors and medical debt collectors from taking legal action unless the action is described in the creditor's or collector's billing and collections policy.

The bill prohibits medical creditors and medical debt collectors from selling an individual's debt to another party, except if, prior to the sale, the medical creditor or medical debt collector has entered into a legally binding written agreement with the medical debt buyer that provides the medical debt buyer shall comply with the requirements of the bill, and that the debt is returnable to or recallable by the medical creditor upon a determination by the medical creditor or medical debt buyer that the individual is eligible for financial assistance.

The bill provides that, during the one year period beginning on the date when a consumer is first given a bill for medical debt, no medical creditor or medical debt collector may communicate with or report any information to a consumer reporting agency regarding the medical debt.

After the one year period has elapsed, a medical creditor or medical debt collector is required to give a consumer at least one additional bill before reporting a medical debt to a consumer reporting agency. The amount reported to the consumer reporting agency shall be the same as the amount stated in the bill, and the bill shall state that the debt is being reported to a consumer reporting agency.

The bill provides that a debtor or the Attorney General may bring an action alleging a medical creditor or medical debt collector has violated the provisions of the bill.

Health benefits coverage for treatment of coronavirus disease 2019

Sections 5 through 8 of the bill require health insurance carriers (health, hospital and medical service corporations, health maintenance organizations and insurance companies), as well as the State and School Employees' Health Benefits Programs and the State Medicaid program, to provide coverage for expenses incurred in the treatment of coronavirus disease 2019, provided that a medical practitioner licensed in accordance with the provisions of Title 45 of the Revised Statutes, or otherwise authorized to provide health care services in this State, has issued a medical order for that treatment.

These requirements of the bill remain in effect during the Public Health Emergency and State of Emergency declared by the Governor in Executive Order 103 of 2020.

The bill requires the coverage to be provided to the same extent as for any other services under the health benefits plan, except that no cost-sharing may be imposed on the coverage provided pursuant to the bill.

The bill takes effect immediately and applies to all health benefit plans currently in effect in the State, or that are delivered, issued, executed or renewed in this State, or approved for issuance or renewal in this State by the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance, on or after the effective date of the bill.

The bill also amends P.L.2020, c.7, to clarify that carriers and the State Medicaid program are required to provide coverage for the testing of coronavirus disease 2019, provided that a health care professional licensed in accordance with the provisions of Title 45 of the Revised Statutes, or otherwise authorized to provide health care services in this State, has issued a medical order for the testing.

Temporary cessation of certain activities for enforcing certain court judgments or orders

Sections 9 and 10 of the bill provide that, whenever a public health emergency or state of emergency is declared by the Governor, during that declared emergency the Governor, by executive order, could preclude the issuance of executions or other post-judgment process set forth in chapters 17 and 18 of Title 2A of the New Jersey Statutes used to enforce a judgment recovered in, or enforce an order for the payment of money issued by, the Superior Court, Law Division, including the Special Civil Part of the Law Division. This action would preclude such enforcement activities as bank levies, wage garnishments, and other means for a judgment-creditor to collect monies owed; however, the executive order would not apply to any executions or other post-judgment process to enforce a judgment or order on a matter that, pursuant to the Rules of Court, was instituted in or transferred to the Superior Court, Chancery Division, Family Part (commonly referred to as “family court”), and subsequently transferred to the Superior Court, Law Division.

The executive order precluding activities would apply to any judgment or order entered before, on, or after the day the executive order was issued, except as described above concerning family court matters. Additionally, with respect to any executive order issued by the Governor precluding activities in relation to the Public Health Emergency and State of Emergency declared by the Governor in Executive Order 103 of 2020 concerning the coronavirus disease 2019 pandemic, that executive order would apply retroactively to any judgment or order not addressing family court matters entered on or after March 9, 2020, the date the emergency was declared in Executive Order 103 of 2020, for which an execution or post-judgment process was not already issued.

An executive order issued pursuant to the bill would remain in effect for no longer than 60 days following the declared end to the emergency.

Proceedings on an execution or other post-judgment process used to enforce a judgment, or enforce an order for the payment of money, could be continued while the Governor’s executive order remained in effect, unless a court of competent jurisdiction determines on its own motion, or motion of any party, that enforcement should be stayed in the interest of justice. Also, sheriffs, Special Civil Part Officers, and their agents would be required to refrain from acting on any newly issued execution or other post-judgment process that fell within the scope of the executive order. However, a court of competent jurisdiction could determine on its own motion, or motion of any party, that enforcement of such execution or other post-judgment is necessary in the interest of justice.

Lastly, for any future execution or other post-judgment process used to enforce a judgment or order for the payment of money, the bill would create an exemption from execution, levy, or attachment all governmental financial assistance provided in response to the emergency declared by Executive Order No. 103 of 2020 concerning the coronavirus disease 2019 pandemic and any related federal emergency declaration pursuant to federal law concerning that same pandemic; however, the bill would not preclude future executions or other post-judgment process to enforce a judgment or order on a matter that, pursuant to the Rules of Court, was instituted in or transferred to the Superior Court, Chancery Division, Family Part. As such, this financial assistance could not be obtained by a judgment-creditor, except when related to actions on family court matters, utilizing an issued execution or other post-judgment process when attempting to enforce a judgment or order for the payment of money.
